¿Años vehÁculos de hoy en dÁÁa se suelen caracterizar por no expulsar gases?¿Cada cuÁnto se cambia la correa de distribuciÁn?Los expertos de Alianza Motor recomiendan revisar la correa de distribuciÁn entre los 60.000 y los 120.000 kilÁmetros. TambiÁn existen otros factores que se ven relacionados con su vida Útil como la marca del vehÁculo, el modelo, la forma de conducir del dueÑo e incluso factores climÁticos cuando se deja el carro por mucho tiempo estacionado a la intemperie, otras razones pueden ser las siguientes:Cumplimiento de su periodo de vida Útil o cuando se repare el motor.Cuando se sospeche de la calidad de la correa.Presencia de cuarteaduras.Superficie deshilachada.Presencia de aceite en su superficie (debido a un retenedor daÑado).Engranajes sobre los que trabaja desgastados o con filos.UtilizaciÁn del vehÁculo en lugares polvorientos; el polvillo se convierte en un abrasivo que la desgasta.El calor del motor y el roce contra los piÑones genera temperatura que la deteriora.La flexiÁn normal contribuye tambiÁn a su deterioro.Manejar en carretera no es lo mismo que manejar en la ciudad, al igual que manejar bajo la lluvia o la humedad, e incluso a plena luz del dÁa. La correa de distribuciÁn es una pieza de caucho que permite el buen funcionamiento del motor, en la manera de transmitir el movimiento desde el cigüeñal (es el eje que recibe la potencia mecÁnica de los pistones del motor mediante el mecanismo biela-manivela) El cigüeñal comunica su potencia a las transmisiones que mueven las ruedas y los auxiliares del motor. Esto es un indicio de que algo anda mal, es por eso que al primer ruido extraÑo en la transmisiÁn del vehÁculo, el cual se ve reflejado cuando el carro va dando cÁatirones,ÁÁ o cÁÁjalonesÁÁ significa que la correa de distribuciÁn estÁ fallando.Otro sÁntoma muy comÚn que se puede presentar y se relaciona con el anterior es el temblor excesivo del The poor coordination of the internal movement of various parts of the engine is the possible cause, if this happens to you continuously this is a very clear indication that the timing belt needs to be changed immediately.On the other hand, when you start the vehicle for the first time, and it takes time to start, it is not such a serious warning signal, but it can have to do with the distribution chain, usually when the engine is cold.Another key point, but not least, is when the vehicle expels too much smoke, it can be a sign that there is something inside it that isn't working properly. Between them, there are camshafts (their operation is similar in that they also have asymmetrical parts to make movements out of time) that allows to coordinate the movement between the valves and the pistons.The timing belt is a very important part for the proper functioning of the engine, which allows it to have an optimal performance inside the gear, it is necessary to do a periodic inspection and if possible it is advisable to change it between 60 thousand and 120 thousand km, or 5 years, whichever happens first.Unfortunately this is one of the most expensive malfunctions that the vehicle can suffer, which will incur money costs. Book your appointment here!Alianza Motor your ideal ally! To avoid future malfunctions you should be very careful in case you want to change the timing belt of your vehicle. It may also interest you: How can I know when to change the brake pads of the vehicle?How can I change the distribution belt?From a mechanical point of view, anyone can change the timing belt of their vehicle. We will explain you how to identify certain signs or signs that your car may display in case you need a mechanical overhau and The change of distribution belt.
